

Monkey Manners

Packet consists of a ● Cover ● Mask's ● Poster ● Drama ● Card ● Booklet ● Placard ● Sticker ● Rakhi (wrsit band) ● Available in English, Tamil and Hindi

Mind your Monkey Manners

CFW Sponsored by Universities Federation for Animal Welfare

ZOO WILD

Some South Asian Commensal Monkeys (or, non-human primates that may co-habit with humans or, monkeys that may hang out with people)

PROTECT MONKEYS! DO NOT FEED THEM.

STOP FEEDING MONKEYS IT HURTS THEM AND YOU

Teaching Monkey Manners with Drama

Create Drama and use it to teach behavioural mitigation of monkey menace using monkey masks

Read this moving testimonial!

I thought education programmes with all their activities such as role playing and drama was pretty uncool! Participating in Role Play and Drama, however, in a workshop I attended recently opened my eyes. These exercises actually made me empathise with the compositions of professionals when whom I was often in disagreement - politicians, forest officers, tribals, etc. I had never had such feelings but, by playing the role of a forest officer in a little ten minute drama, made me understand forest officers in a way I hadn't in the past. This empathy and understanding led to willingness to negotiate rather than confront, the latter of which seems to be how most people want to solve disagreements. I believe that Role Play and Drama can greatly aid the learning process in ways that intellectual thought cannot. In a drama you can actually feel another person's feelings for you never have before.

Anna, Conservationist

MONKEY MANNERS

Misplaced Monkey Mischief - How to Handle

Monkey Manners are set of behaviour or actions to be learned by human beings to successfully handle the monkey menace. There are certain rules to follow to control this problem. It is fun to learn all these techniques through poem, monkey drama and do's and dont's.